

On February 18th, President Biden signed into a law a continuing resolution (CR) to fund the government through March 11th. This CR allows the government to operate with Fiscal Year 2021 funding levels while legislators finalize the details of a spending package for FY22. At FY21 levels, however, the Navy would have faced a $500 million shortfall in the Columbia Class Submarine program.

As the Columbia Class moves to replace the Ohio Class Submarines, the Pentagon has advocated for the prioritization of defense dollars towards the Columbia. To prevent significant schedule delays in advanced procurement, the most recent CR contains an anomaly granting $1.6 billion for the operations of the Columbia program.

This CR anomaly ensures that the Columbia program remains funded, regardless of the ongoing budget debate. Only three CR anomalies were included across all federal agencies, making this a significant win and show of Congressional support for the Columbia Class.

The following outlines the U.S. Senate and House members who voted to fund the Columbia anomaly and support the submarine industrial base.
